I Have No Trouble Sharing

By: Robert Scotellaro

I have no trouble sharing –

I'm good at it, you'll find.

When I eat watermelon,

I always share the rind.

When there's a chore like cleaning

My filthy, dusty room –

I'm never, ever stingy.

I always share my broom.

And if you share your cookies

(I'm hoping that you do),

The next time I eat walnuts

I'll share the shells with you.

I think a kid like me is

So very, very rare.

A kid that has no trouble

With knowing how to share.
