I graduated from school in 2012. The time spent at BBPS from 2004-20012 summarised the best years of my childhood. I feel extremely indebted towards my school, my Principal, and the set of amazing teachers who helped me discover the person I wanted to be. I'm a strong believer in habit formation and I realise today that so much of the manner in which I approach things, is built on the foundation my teachers laid for me. They guided me with their love and care and inspired me to always walk on the right path. I take pride in calling myself a true Bal Bharatian.

“Being a proud Alumnus of BBPS I must say that the school not only played an integral part in nurturing and shaping my personality but also brought me to where I am today. It was a great experience for me overall leaving me with a lot of life lessons. The quality of education imparted, of course impeccable, prepared me well for college and beyond. But what I appreciated most was that aside from the emphasis put on academics, the right amount of focus was also put on extracurricular activities. The teachers were approachable and always willing to help me. The overall environment was positive and supportive, and I couldn't have asked for a better high school experience.”
